Father Bill's Weekly Message

BUILDING FOR THE COMMON GOOD

Pope Leo XIV issued his first encyclical, entitled Magnifica Humanitas on the 135th anniversary of his predecessor, Pope Leo XIII's, encyclical, Rerum Novarum.

He begins by writing, "Building a city founded on the common good implies, first and foremost, building on a firm relationship with God. It means recognizing that the truth of his love calls us to life 'in all its fullness' and communion with him." (#11) The common good in Church teaching assumes a relationship with God.

There are four aspects to this concern for the common good. First, a firm relationship with God. Second, accepting the limits and weakness of humanity without considering them an error to be corrected. Third, shared responsibility and courage. Fourth, an evangelical language. (#s 11-14)

The Pope then lists five standards for discernment of practices. They are; the dignity of the human person, the universal destination of goods, the preferential option for the poor, care for our common home, and peace. The Pope goes on to write, "Let us translate these standards into practices such as responsible planning, the assessment of human and social impact, the inclusion of the most vulnerable, the promotion of digital literacy and guiding research and industry toward justice and peace." (#14)

Pope Leo XIV then surveys the popes of the last 135 years and the Second Vatican Council to state what they wrote about Social Justice. He calls this survey, "A Dynamic Approach Faithful to the Gospel." (#s 17-45) He writes, "The Church is present in the world as a sign of unity for the entire human family. She recognizes today's questions and challenges as the current setting in which to carry out her particular vocation of listening, dialogue, and service, and of being responsive to everything concerning the lives of contemporary men and women." (# 19)
